The line read simply thus, "Noted, to ring one of the church bells at norn and 9 p. m." This vote has been at norn and 9 p. m." This vote has been passed by this particular town, and a ew others possibly, every year since those good old colony days. That it is down near Boston that this custom obtains need hardly be specified. The curfew still rings in a few towns, six days a week at high noon and at 9 o'clock, and the inhabitants thereof, many of them, would rest ill in their beds if they did not hear the dying echoes of the meetng house bell float from the belfry at the regular curfew hour.

It is now almost or not quite half a entury since the bell in the old First church steeple rang out the curfew to tell the good people of Springfield, and the bad ones, too, that bedtime was ap proaching, when all honest folk should e inside their dwellings. The noon our likewise was observed in this way It is a custom dear to those who have fived with it. In this city the regular bell is a welcome sound to the armorers and to the hundreds of families living within range. The brave jungle at 9 o'clock, dying away on the stilly night in mellow tones, is full of cheer and a sort of martial glory. Springfield (Mass.) Homestead.

Another Prop Gone. Well, well, well! What will the Tariff le-a-tax" editor do now? He has made the increased duty on tin plate is greatest card, and pow it is blown way in one breath! We have been told that the poor man would have to pay hat quarter of a cent entra duty on his linner pail, and we have almost been led to believe that a new coin would have to be made that this "tax" might be paid, at least till we made our own tin plate in sufficient quantities to reluce the price. But now we are told by Congressman Niedringhaus that the for eign tin-plate workers have agreed to sell the American market all the tin plate wanted without any added cost on account of the increased duty. So the poor workingman won't have to scrape ogether that quarter of a cent after all. But what will the Free-Trade-Tariff editor do? This tin plate "tax" was his greatest and almost only standby. And now that the prop is gone! Well, he must send to the Cobden Club and get some new ones from headquarters. But Nearly all of the very early varieties of strawberries continue but a short time in bearing, yield but few pickings, and give but short crops. The same is true, in a more marked degree, of the ext ene track to NEW late sorts. They commence to ripen late, but hold ort little, if any longer, than the medium varieties. The second early, or medium varieties, usually give more pickings during the season, continue longer in bearing, than the extreme early and late sorts, hence give a greater total yield.
